

The Design Challenge

You have been hired by a local physician's office to create an informational poster about one of the following body systems:

- Integumentary
- Skeletal
- Muscular
- Circulatory
- Nervous
- Digestive
- Endocrine
- Reproductive
- Respiratory
- Immune
- Excretory

Your poster must be colorful and enlightening. The key concepts that must be covered in the poster are as follows:

- The primary function of the system
- The major organs associated with the system
- A description of three ways this system coordinates with two other body systems
- The major tissues that comprise this system or any specialized cells that is vital for this system to function
- A list and definition of any major diseases that may affect this system

The poster will be used as literature for patients to access if they are interested in detailed information about a specific body system, so the pamphlet must have illustrations with the major organs labeled. The document must be completed on 8.5"x11" paper and must use both the front and back of the page.
